

now?

A brown horse with a white blaze is lying on a bed with white linens. A black arrow points from the text "now?" to the horse's back.

A brown dog is lying on a white bedsheet. A black line points to the dog's head.

You remind me of someone else

I am literally naked.

Can you
hold me?

I just did.

@horses_and_memories

What color are my eyes.

@horses_and_memories

tried to play it cool now I'm freezing Guess I'm not calm! Guess I'm needy!
I'm a warm body I'm a warm body I'm a warm body

@horses_and_memories

I am not going to process this like a normal girl I'm going to chew through metal and write a pop song

@horses_and_memories

lets be in love<3

@horses_and_memories

I'm practicing non-attachment but i feel very much like a velcro sticky jar-less marmalade sweet molasses brand new back-to-school glue stick frizzy friction Creature. So it's tricky.

@horses_and_memories

i took a walk and stretched and prayed and decided im very sorry for letting my daydreams get the best of me. It'll happen again, that's ok, nothing to punish myself over. I imagined u 2 much, that's so silly, because i hate it when people do it to me. Objectifying really. To assume a random person will fit so nice into your life. I have to wait, I have to wait until they prove that they'll fit. (though there's no permanence in that either, we grow and things don't fit anymore) In the meantime we approach with optimistic nonchalance. So this is what you can give me right now? Ok, I will move on in that case. Thank you for showing me. Everything is ok in the end. This is not a depressing horse meme carousel. Sometimes I just need to dig the knife in a little deeper to make sure I felt everything I was supposed to. I did. Ok. Let's move on.

