

A detailed, realistic illustration of a chestnut horse, likely a Thoroughbred, shown in profile facing right. The horse has a powerful, athletic build with a long neck and a flowing mane. Its coat is a rich, glossy chestnut color. It is wearing white protective boots or wraps on all four lower legs. The background is a solid, vibrant blue.

an afterthought

A black horse standing in profile against a blue background. The horse is facing left and has a sleek, dark coat. The text "an afterthought" is written in white at the top right of the image.

Is that pathetic?

No it's lovely. But you make me
kind of, incredibly sad.

Well then.

What now.

I didn't have it in myself to go with grace

Maybe I could try

It feels stupid to buy
new shoes when the ones I have now
haven't absolutely
fallen apart yet

Wouldn't it be better to not risk your soles wearing
through tho...to be left barefoot on the sidewalk?

No yea I'm just saying it's not a skill I have yet, letting go.

That's because you haven't been practicing.

The other day when the landlord came over to fix my toilet he was taking forever so I pissed in a jar. Like I know I could've left the house and found a bathroom but I was like hey, what's so wrong with pissing in a jar.

I just want to be vulnerable and honest with someone

And I FILLED the jar too, I was kind of impressed honestly and-

< yea this is not what I want.

